3. Page 18 of the Correspondence Handbook and all other references to "Distribution" convey the impression that the distribution on papers requiring concurrences or approval by higher authority should be shown as though made from the signing officials office. This office has been requested to indicate final distribution (See Exhibit 1) on all such papers, i.e., distribution as made from the final approving official's office. Such final distribution may be shown on the original and all copies. (This applies only to papers requiring approval.) All prepared copies (except green suspense copies) will be forwarded to the final signing office.

4. Exhibit 1, attached, shows an example of both "Approval" line and "Distribution" as required. This Exhibit is an example of the "action" Office being other than the originating office (Office of Logistics) and in such cases the approved original is distributed to the "action" Office and a conformed copy is returned to the originating Office. ~~Another example of such instances~~ would be papers requesting approval regarding transfer or appropriation of funds (action--Comptroller's Office) ~~and papers requesting approval of Tables of Organization or change of Personnel Ceilings (action--Management Staff)~~ Office of Personnel Management
When the Office of Logistics will be the action Office, the original is indicated as distributed to the Office of Logistics.
